

SHORT VERSION

Robyn Thompson: Money Expert

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

TV PERSONALITY

WEALTH CONSULTANT

From modest beginnings living with her sisters and stay-at-home Mom in straightened financial circumstance, Robyn's family recovered through hard work and determination. It's a tough lesson to learn when you are ten years old. But the "school of hard knocks" taught some valuable lessons, and Robyn came to realize the key role that the psychology of money plays in determining the consequences of certain kinds of financial behavior. And that put her on the road to financial success, becoming an independently wealthy businesswoman. It's a vitally important message that Robyn shares dynamically and engagingly with a wider audience through inspirational keynote speaking, media appearances, and financial literacy volunteering.

In a career that spans nearly two decades, Robyn's experience ranges from respected financial journalist, financial advisor, and founder of Castlemark Wealth Management, an award-winning female-focused financial advisory business to an in-demand keynote speaker.

As an accomplished financial journalist, speaker, and communicator, Robyn has appeared regularly as a financial expert in a variety of venues and media channels, including CTV's popular talk shows Your Morning and The Social, BNN Bloomberg, The Globe and Mail, The Toronto Star, Reader's Digest, and many others.

Robyn holds both the Certified Financial Planner (CFP®) designation and the Chartered Investment Manager (CIM®) designation. She is also a Fellow of the Canadian Securities Institute (FCSI®) and a member of the Financial Planners Standards Council. She is the recipient of numerous awards, including the Wealth Professional 5-Star Women in Wealth Award, the 5-Star Top Teams Award, and Financial Literacy Champion Financial Literacy Excellence Award.

Robyn also puts her financial expertise to use promoting financial literacy, especially for young people through her association with Junior Achievement.
